Write an introduction to an informative and factual blog post titled "How do you create a blog". Write an informative blog post announcing the official release of your blog.

If you are ever in need to write an essay, go to 'My Blog'. Write an essay on the theme "The Importance of Reading". Write a blog entry on any topic of your choice. You are encouraged to make it creative. You can use tips, tricks and techniques that you have learnt, but you cannot plagiarize any other persons work.

Write about any event that has occurred in your life that you have found interesting or amusing, or in which you have had a miraculous experience. Note that the events should be true events only and no fictitious stories are allowed.

Write five blog entries. You must write them in a way that makes each one stand out and is different from the previous one. Write an entry regarding a specific event, not necessarily about yourself. 1st assignment: Write at least two blog entries on any topic that you like - this can include general topics, or other people's blogs that you feel represent your viewpoint/ideas very accurately. Make sure they are interesting, entertaining and informative to read. It does not matter whether you agree with the author or not - it is recommended to try and broaden your own views whilst doing so ('expanding your horizons'). 2nd assignment: Write an interesting blog entry about anything you like. Make sure it is engaging, entertaining and well-written. The topics will be decided by your group leader. 3rd assignment: Write another blog entry, but this time do not take part in the discussion board to give it your own unique style - this is when you become creative.

Write an original piece of fiction for each member of the group (10 minutes per person). This can be in any genre you like - e.g., fantasy, horror, thriller, science fiction, etc. Create a blog entry about a very specific topic or an event. Write a blog entry about a specific topic.

Write an original piece of fiction for everyone in the group (10 minutes per person).

In order to submit your work, you must create several copies of your material and send them to the group leader. This means that you will have heard from us that we have received all of your work before you can submit it online. We recommend making at least 5 copies of each essay/blog post etc...
